The NSDAR was founded in 1890. Its headquarters occupy an entire city block in Washington, DC near the White House. The largest complex of buildings in the world owned and operated by women, it includes the Administration Building, DAR Constitution Hall and Memorial Continental Hall. Within this complex is the DAR Library, one of the largest genealogical research centers in America, the accredited DAR Museum and the Americana Room.

NSDAR Motto

“GOD, HOME and COUNTRY”

The Daughters of the American Revolution is a not-for-profit, non-political volunteer women's service organization dedicated to promoting patriotism, preserving American history and securing America's future through better education.

NSDAR has over 165,000 members in more than 3,000 chapters located in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and in twelve countries around the world. There are more than 4,000 members in 73 chapters in South Carolina.

Eligibility and Membership

The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution welcomes any woman 18 years or older, regardless of race, religion or ethnic background who can prove lineal descent from a patriot of the American Revolution.

Historic Preservation

Sites of important events throughout America's history have been marked by DAR with monuments of all sizes. DAR helps locate, support and preserve landmarks, historic structures and graves of Revolutionary patriots. DAR sponsors workshops which offer instruction in locating and preserving genealogical resources, copying unpublished documents, and building databases that make historical records easily accessible electronically.

Patriotism

South Carolina Daughters participate in many patriotic activities including public outreach to active military personnel and their families through volunteer work. They present awards and medals for ROTC, community service and good citizenship, and promote Constitution Week in public schools.

Education

Over $1 million is given annually to support six schools founded to provide educational opportunities that would otherwise be unavailable to the populations they serve. The project closest to the heart of South Carolina Daughters is Tamassee DAR School. Support, both financial and hands-on, is given lovingly by the South Carolina Daughters, who maintain the oldest building on campus, the Grace Ward Calhoun Cottage.

Why Join the South Carolina DAR?

Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) honor and preserve the legacy of their Patriot ancestors. Over two hundred years ago, American Patriots fought and sacrificed for the freedoms their descendents enjoy today. Through participation in the Society's various programs and activities, members continue this legacy by actively supporting historic preservation, promotion of education, and patriotic endeavors.

A woman does not need to complete an application before attending a chapter meeting. She does not even need to have identified her Patriot Ancestor. By attending a local chapter meeting, she will meet DAR members who have the experience to assist her in obtaining her goal of DAR membership.

For more than a century, NSDAR members have dedicated themselves to historical preservation, promotion of education, and encouragement of patriotic endeavor. These goals are as relevant in today's society as they were when the organization was founded in 1890. By joining DAR, members have many opportunities to support these goals through participation in programs and projects throughout the state.

South Carolina Daughters invite you to join them. Please visit the website at www.scdar.org for more information about the South Carolina chapters in your area.
